

Make It Beautiful

Verse 1

What have I done
To make you doubt me?
I gave you my days.
I gave you my sleep.

Never took time.
Never asked nicely.
Worked like a dog
For promises cheap.

Pre-Chorus

Everybody's talking.
Nobody says a thing.
Everybody wants the crown.
Nobody wants the king.

Chorus

If nothing matters,
Make it beautiful.
Make it beautiful
Before we go.

If life is cruel,
Make it useful.
Plant something strange
And let it grow.

Verse 2

Time fell apart
While I was working.
Monday was young.
Friday was dead.

Maybe we're dreams
Inside of a machine.
Maybe the moon

Is stuck in my head.

Pre-Chorus

The strangest thing
Is probably true.
The world may be lying,
But so are you.

Chorus

If nothing matters,
Make it beautiful.
Make it beautiful
Before we go.

If life is cruel,
Make it useful.
Plant something strange
And let it grow.

Bridge

I was a child
Dressed as a grown-up.
Holding the world
With both little hands.

Now I'm grown,
Looking for that child.
Maybe they knew
What nobody understands.

I wanna lose
An entire afternoon.
I wanna sing
Without proving a thing.

Final Chorus

If nothing matters,
Make it beautiful.
Make it beautiful

Before we leave.

If life is cruel,
Don't make a religion of it.
Give me one good thing
I can believe.

Outro

What have I done
To make you doubt me?
Nothing, my love.
Nothing at all.

The tree may be high.
The tree may be low.
Plant something strange
And let it grow.

The last verse was inspired by the Strawberry Fields Forever song lyrics written by John Lennon. I tried to make a simple melody of it. I don't truly know what it means. Wrote it in USC Village around 12:00-12:40 am.

Days and sleep spent, promises cheap, a crowd that wants the crown and not the king. If nothing matters, the remaining job is to make a thing: beautiful, useful, strange, and let it grow. Time dies inside the week. The bridge wants the child who held the world without proving anything, and an afternoon with no performance. The last verse answers the first: nothing, my love. Then the tree that may be high or low, planted anyway.
